ÅF acquires AB Teknoplan

As part of its comprehensive growth strategy, ÅF acquires all shares in Teknoplan AB. The acquisition strengthens ÅF's offer in technical installations for buildings and infrastructure in the greater Stockholm area.

Teknoplan primarily designs electrical and telecom installations systems for customers such as Stockholm Public Transport, the City of Stockholm, the Swedish Transport Administration, healthcare real estate company Locum and major property developers.

"Teknoplan has skilled, committed employees and long-standing customer relationships, just like ÅF, which means that our company cultures fit well together. This merger makes us a stronger partner for our customers in terms of capacity as well as competence," says Jonas Wiström, President and CEO of ÅF.

On the Stockholm market, there is high demand for the services in question within infrastructure projects as well as in real estate development projects related to new hospitals, commercial properties and housing.

"I am pleased that the competence built up within Teknoplan over the last 30 years is now transferred to ÅF. We look forward to continue providing high quality services within our market segment," says Svante Lundqvist, CEO of Teknoplan.

Teknoplan has 42 employees, based in the Stockholm district of Hammarby Sjöstad, and annual revenues of approximately 50 MSEK.

The company will be consolidated from 1 January 2017 and integrated into the ÅF Infrastructure division and the Buildings business area, under the management of Björn Qvist.
