ÅF wins hospital contract in Malmö

ÅF has signed a significant contract with Region Skåne for the development of modern hospital facilities in Malmö. ÅF's contribution to the project will be key expertise and the planning of technical installations in the hospital's new central building. The order is valued at SEK 35 million.

"It's gratifying that ÅF continues to win these type of projects," says Björn Qvist, business area manager for ÅF's Infrastructure Division. "We have considerable resources and key expertise when it comes to technically complex systems in healthcare buildings. We're currently involved in most hospital projects around Sweden, including the New Karolinska in Solna and Vrinnevi Hospital in Norrköping."

Development of the Malmö hospital area includes a new main building of about 70,000 m², provisional replacement premises, a new supply and maintenance building, and new infrastructure in the form of transportation and technology culverts. The new facility was designed with a focus on function: a sustainable building that is flexible and can be adapted to future healthcare technologies and practices.
