ÅF appoints new member to Group Management

ÅF has appointed Peter Plug as new EVP & Head of the Energy Division and member of Group Management. Peter has over 13 years of experience within the energy sector and joined ÅF in 2013.

"I am very pleased that Peter has accepted the role as Executive Vice President for the Energy Division. He has a solid experience from the European energy sector, and has shown a strong leadership in his former roles within ÅF. Together with his management team he will now take on the job of implementing the ÅF Future Strategy and repositioning the division according to the ongoing energy transformation," says Jonas Gustavsson, President and CEO of ÅF.

Coming from the Netherlands Peter has two master degrees in Public Administration and Political Science. He started his career within management consultancy and has spent nearly eight years as Director of the Dutch Office of Energy Regulation. When joining ÅF he took on the role as Managing Director of AF Mercados in Spain, and has played a key role together with a strong management team to turn around this company. For the last nine months Peter has been the Vice President and Head of International Energy Operations at the Energy Division. Peter will commence his position as of today and will replace Robert Gerosa who announced his termination earlier this fall.
